CONFIRMS BOER NATAL INVASION

Dispatch Received at London From Ladysmith

BURGHERS SOON OCCUPIED LAING'S NEK.

A Cape Town Telegram Says That Premier Schreiner Refused to Sign Sir Alfred Milner's Proclamation — Rumored That the British Government Intends to Impeach Irish Members of Parliament For High Treason in Having Given Aid and Comfort to the Transvaal.

London, Oct. 12.—[Special]—A dispatch from Ladysmith confirms the reported Boer invasion of Natal.

The burghers occupied Laing's Nek as soon as the ultimatum expired, and have also taken up a position on Ingogo Heights.

Orange Free State burghers invaded Natal by the way of Van Reenen's Pass. News of actual movements in South Africa continue scanty and contradictory. It is supposed that the Boers intend to flank the British in Natal, getting behind their defenses.

Charlestown and New Castle may be already in the hands of the Boers.

It is rumored that the government intends to impeach several Irish members of parliament for high treason, in having given aid and comfort to the Transvaal. The rumor has caused a lively sensation here.

Schreiner's Last Plea For Peace

Cape Town, Oct. 12.—[Special]—Premier Schreiner refused to sign Sir Alfred Milner's proclamation, declaring that persons abetting the enemy would be guilty of high treason.

Schreiner bases his objection on technical grounds.

In the assembly today Premier Schreiner made a last and impassioned plea for peace. Parliament adjourns today.

Greene Leaves Pretoria.

Cape Town, Oct. 12.—[Special]—Coyne Greene, the British agent at Pretoria, left there yesterday afternoon for Cape Town after paying a formal farewell visit to President Kruger and the Transvaal officials.

Burghers Occupy Philipstown.

London, Oct. 12.—[Special]—A private message from Cape Town says that Orange Free State burghers have crossed the Orange river into Cape Colony, and have occupied Philipstown.

London, Oct. 12.—While no word has been received up to a late hour that actual fighting has begun in the Transvaal, it is taken for granted that war has begun. It is known that Conyngham Greene, the British agent, has left Pretoria.

The Daily Telegraph's cable, from Ladysmith, dated Wednesday at 6 o'clock in the evening, says:

"War has begun. The Boers are in Natal and the Free State burghers have seized at Harrismith train property belonging to the Natal government. Tonight the infantry is bivouacked upon the hills in force, standing to arms. The outposts have been strengthened. One hundred and fifty invalid soldiers have been sent to Pietermaritzburg. The British patrol was stoned by the burghers between Ladysmith and the Orange Free State border."

The Daily Standard's Charleston dispatch says:

"It is rumored that a body of Orange Free State Boers have crossed the Natal border at Cundy Leugh pass. This is one of the less important passes over the Drakensberg, and lies twenty-seven miles west of Glencoe and about thirty southwest of Newcastle."

The Daily News' Ladysmith dispatch says:

"A party of Orange Free State Boers have been detected by carabinier scouts in Natal territory, near Berg. Seeing that they had been observed, they immediately retreated."

"Commandant Ben Viljoen, in command of the Orange Free State artillery, is marching to Albertina, the first railway station beyond Van Reenen's pass, in the Orange Free State."

The Chronicle's dispatch from Mafeking says:

"It is certain that Mafeking will be able to hold out until the arrival of reinforcements. We have provision and supplies for two months."

The Daily Post's Pietermaritzburg advises say: "Though war has really been entered on, it is not anticipated here that hostilities will begin before Friday."

At a conservative demonstration, Lord Wimborne, declared that the government would make the Transvaal bear the cost of the campaign as a war indemnity.

It is now an established fact that Germany's attitude toward Great Britain will be one of benevolent neutrality. The other European powers are considering their position. France appears to be in rather an irritated mood, and the French press commiserates the Boers for missing their chance in not making an early dash across the frontier. At the same time Great Britain

NATURAL PHENOMENA IS SEEN AT MADISON

THE APPEARANCE OF A HORIZONTAL RAINBOW.

Prof. Woods Gives an Explanation—Wisconsin-Yale Football Game is a "Go"—Manager Fisher Receives a Telegram—Good Game Next Saturday With Northwestern.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12.—[Special]—A natural phenomena of unusual sight was presented last Sunday morning in the appearance of a horizontal rainbow upon Lake Mendota. This beautiful sight appeared about nine o'clock. The rainbow seemed to be about half way across the lake and appeared flat upon the water. The colors were very bright and distinct and were in bars of pure light beginning with the red on the left to the violet on the extreme right. Prof. Woods, who attracted so much attention because of his application of electricity to thawing frozen water pipes and also because of his successful experiments in color photography, thought the effect was due to the radiation of the sun's rays through the heavy fog which hung over the lake. Comparatively few people saw this phenomena as it could be seen for only a short time and disappeared with the fog.

The Yale game will surely be played as Manager Fisher just received a telegram stating that the Yale team would play twenty-five minute halves or even longer if the Wisconsin team desired. This is a great relief for the students, as for a time it looked as though the game was off and the united sentiment of the west is for such a game. The showing of the team in last Saturday's game has greatly increased the confidence of all and from reports, caused uneasiness at Yale.

The game with Northwestern Saturday will be of especial interest, being the last one played before meeting the sons of old Eli, and it is expected the seating capacity of the grounds will be taxed to their utmost. The team leaves for the East next Monday morning under the care of Manager Fisher of Janesville.

FORECAST OF WEATHER

Chicago, Oct. 12.—[Special]—Forecast for Wisconsin:

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday.

Taggart Has Small Plurality.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12.—Complete official returns from the fifteen wards in the city show that Mayor Taggart (democrat) is re-elected by 247 plurality, and the city clerk, police judge and councilmen-at-large, all democrats, by about 300. There is but little talk now of a contest by the republicans.

A Novel Use of the Bicycle.

There was a novel use of the bicycle at the recent show of the Royal Agricultural society in Sydney. The company which has acquired the patent rights in the sheep-shearing machine invented by the late Mr. Fred Yorke Wolseley, the Australian brother of the commander-in-chief, showed number of these machines worked by motive power supplied by a cyclist. The driving wheel of the bicycle was connected with a small rubber wheel fixed on a spindle, to which were attached the flexible shaft and shear of the Wolseley machine. Each sheep was relieved of its wool coat in four or five minutes.

MORSE BUYS OUT HAZLETON

New Local Fire Insurance Firm Will Be Carter & Morse.

Orville S. Morse of this city, has made the purchase of Frank Hazleton's interest in the local fire insurance firm of Carter and Hazleton.

Mr. Morse for some time held the position of night clerk at the Grand hotel, resigning a few months ago to engage in the fire insurance business, for which he is well adapted. He is a hustler in all that the word implies and is sure to succeed. The change will be made November 1.

AN INTERESTING FIND OF COINS.

The house at Falkirk, Scotland, in which Prince Charlie slept before the historic battle of 1746 was recently removed. The pulling down of the structure resulted in an interesting find of coins, mostly belonging to the reign of George III. The most interesting is one dated 1751, bearing on one side the arms of the city of Edinburgh and the inscription, "Edinburgh halfpenny," and on the other a representation of St. Andrew, the Scottish thistle and the motto, "Nemo me impune lacessit."

Owner of Cannon Ball House Dead.

Patrick Connor is dead at Winchester, Va. He achieved fame as the owner of the celebrated and historic Cannon Ball house. This house was shot entirely through by a twenty-four pound ball from Milroy Ferry fort, on the western heights of the city. Mr. Connor and his children had just left their beds at the time, and the ball splintered the beds into fragments. Afterward the shot was recovered and placed in the aperture in the outside wall, where it has remained since.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK FELT AT KENOSHA

FELT THROUGHOUT COUNTY TUESDAY EVENING.

Unusual Disturbances Also Noticed in Racine—Frog in a Fond du Lac Woman's Stomach—Thinks Long Illness is Explained—News From Badgerdom.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 12.—What is thought to have been an earthquake shock was felt in Kenosha Tuesday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. In many houses the windows rattled and the furniture was shaken violently. The course of the earthquake seemed to be east and west. In the country the shocks were felt more perceptibly than in the city.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 12.—An earthquake was felt at Racine Tuesday night. Windows and doors shook, dishes rattled and other unusual disturbances were noticed. A woman on Lake avenue says she was nearly shaken off a chair. Many hurried from their homes, believing that someone was shaking doors or windows.

Live Frog in Her Stomach.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 12.—Mrs. Johanna Soll of this city, while in a paroxysm of nausea yesterday afternoon threw up a live frog, full grown, and weighing three and a half ounces. Mrs. Soll had been a sufferer from a peculiar form of stomach trouble for years, and no physician was able to diagnose her symptoms satisfactorily. The frog was expelled from her stomach while waiting for a doctor who had been summoned. Dr. J. P. Connell found her lying in bed utterly exhausted, with the live frog beside her. Mrs. Soll says that for several years she had been convinced that her suffering was due to some animate object in her stomach, and at times it would move and jump perceptively, which symptoms her doctors had ascribed to spasmodic muscular contraction. A peculiarity of the frog was that it was apparently blind.

Wreck at Manitowoc.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 12.—A double-header freight train from the west collided with the switch engine in the Northwestern yards here yesterday afternoon. Both engines on the freight and two box cars were derailed. The engines were badly damaged, but the engineers and firemen saved themselves by jumping. The wreck delayed the northbound passenger about two hours.

Temporary tracks have been laid around the wreck.

Capt. Tainter Very ill.

Andrew Tainter, vice president of the firm of Knapp, Stout & Co. of Mononome, Wis., and 70 years of age, is critically ill at the Lake house at Rice Lake with pneumonia. His wife and daughter left him yesterday morning for his bedside and his son L. A. Tainter came from Chicago. Thrown Over Embankment.

On account of delay that was caused by a late train, Judge Dunwiddie did not appear in the court room until 11:20 and immediately instructed Sheriff Gardner to declare court opened with the usual proclamation.

The court at once took up the cases, calling the calendar, which by a new rule included the criminal, which previous to the adoption of the new rule was always done later in the term. The calling of the calendar diminished the business of the term, the usual number of cases being reported not for trial.

SCOFIELD TO LEAVE STATE Goes to Idaho at the End of His Present Term

Gov. Edward Scofield intends to leave Wisconsin at the close of his present term a year from next January, says the Milwaukee Sentinel of this morning. It is his purpose to go to Idaho to engage in business and he expects to make that state his future home. Friends of the governor say he has been contemplating this step for some time and that in the near future he will make arrangements to close out his business interests in this state.

Gov. Scofield was in the city for a short time Tuesday. Asked concerning his plans, he said: "I expect to leave Wisconsin at the close of my term. We're going to Idaho, I think." Negotiations for the purchase of some interests in that state are now pending and if things are arranged as I think they will be, I shall be ready to leave for the west as soon as my term as governor is at an end."

Further than this the governor did not care to discuss the subject, though he said his son, George Scofield, intended to go west next spring to take charge of some business interests that had been acquired. It is known that for some time the governor and several well-known Milwaukeeans have been negotiating for the purpose of an extensive tract of timber land in Idaho, though it is understood that the negotiations have not as yet resulted in the purchase of the property. A close friend of the governor said last night that he thought it likely that the Scofield sawmill would be moved from Wisconsin to Idaho next year. Last summer the governor and his son went to Idaho to look after some timber land, and it is said they were well pleased with the outlook.

Gov. Scofield has been a resident of Wisconsin for thirty-one years. He settled in Oconto in 1868 and has ever since made that city his home, though his business interests are in Marinette. The executive committee reported, naming Rev. E. H. Pence as the leader for the first meeting, and the time for holding the next meeting as Wednesday evening, October 25, the place of holding the meeting to be announced later.

The wives of the members are to be admitted without membership fee. Meetings will be held every two weeks.

The membership is as follows:

ELECTRIC NIACARA.

Great Falls to Be Transformed Into a

Blood of Fire.

Buffalo's big exposition—and if only one-half the promises of the management are realized it will be in every respect a big affair—will be the occasion of what will doubtless be a most brilliant and startling electrical illumination. Niagara Falls will be transformed into a blood of fire. The seething, roaring torrent will be ablaze with all the hues of the spectrum. The superlative natural grandeur of the scene will be so enhanced that the projectors of the strikingly novel enterprise contend that its success will make the exposition an event in history. The idea is to erect a series of tall towers on both the American and Canadian sides of the river. On the top of these lofty spires huge electric searchlights will be placed, in such manner that they may be played on any part of the falls. The imagination may picture the dazzling effect that will be produced when a score of those powerful instruments of illumination are brought to bear upon the rushing waters as they tumble irresistibly over the rocky ledge into the depths beneath. A constant change of colors will be used in the manipulation of the searchlights, so that now the falls will be like molten silver, again a flood of crimson, again as green as old ocean itself, and so on through the whole gamut of the painter's palette. The astonished effect will be still further heightened by the use of electric arc lights in the Cave of the Winds, which will give to the water as it falls in front of it a weird, phosphorescent glow. The power for this record-making illumination will be all within easy reach, as Niagara will itself be made to do all the necessary work. This is expected to be largely a spectacular arrangement, but scientists hope to discover something new about the effect of light on water and make a careful study of the chemistry of color. This has been done to some extent with electric fountains, but Niagara will offer an entirely new field.

A Great Man's Brain.

The brain of Hermann von Helmholtz, who died in 1894, has been carefully measured, weighed and studied by Prof. Hansmann of the University of Berlin, who has recently published a report on the subject, accompanied by photographs. The brain exceeded the average in weight, but heavy brains are no longer regarded as furnishing alone an index of mental capacity. Far more significant are the convolutions of the brain, and these in Helmholtz's case were remarkable, the furrows being peculiarly deep and well marked in those parts of the brain which are concerned with mental associations. The frontal convolutions were so deeply furrowed that it was difficult for the investigators to follow the ordinarily recognized fissures.

Will Buy a Home for Schley.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The Woman's National Industrial League has taken the initial steps to raise a fund with which to purchase a home in Washington for Admiral Schley. An executive committee was appointed to push the movement, and the Citizens' National Bank of Washington was designated as the institution to which subscribers should send their subscriptions.

Will Confer on the Alaska Line.
London, Oct. 12.—Sir Louis Davies, Canadian minister of fisheries and marine, will confer again today regarding the Alaska question with the secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Chamberlain. Sir Louis said yesterday it was expected an agreement would be reached on a tentative measure to prevent local friction while negotiations on the main question were in progress.

TESTS PATIENCE.

The Most Patient Janesville Citizen Must Show Annoyance at Times.

Nothing spoils a good disposition, Nothing taxes a man's patience, Like any itchiness of the skin. Itching piles almost drive you crazy. All day it makes you miserable. All night it keeps you awake. Itch! Itch! Itch! with no relief. Just the same with Eczema. Can hardly keep from scratching it. You would do so but you know it makes it worse.

Such miseries are daily decreasing. People are learning they can be cured. Learning the merit of Doan's Ointment.

Plenty of Proof that Doan's Ointment will cure Piles, Eczema or any Itchiness of the skin.

Read the testimony of a Janesville citizen.

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electric Light Co., says: "I tried about every thing recommended for itchiness of the skin, but found nothing to give me relief until I struck Doan's Ointment at the People's drug store. I had an affection of the skin on my face caused from the burning oil about the engine and dynamos. My face itched and annoyed me, and rubbing it only made it worse and made it sore. I could hardly stand shaving, for the skin broke and bled. A few applications of Doan's Ointment removed the itchiness and healed up my face in a few days. I would not be without this remedy in my house, and I certainly recommend it to others in need of such a preparation."

Doan's Ointment is sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster, Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

MAYO AT THE GRAND SATURDAY

"Pudd'nhead Wilson," One of the Best Plays Ever Produced.

"Pudd'nhead Wilson," thanks to the late Frank Mayo, the dramatizer, is one of the greatest American plays ever produced. It teaches us an old lesson the barbarians have not forgotten; the wisdom of the fool, the great worthiness of the heart over head. This story is as fresh as a whiff from the clover-carpeted fields after the perfumes of the boudoir. Its life is the life that counts for good in the world. Its passion is the passion that touches the heart and molts the eye. It is a natural plot that deals with people whose voices are not fangled and whose virtues are convictions, not conformities to mere conventions. One can watch the development of the play and be glad to forget that it is a story. Could we but have more plays like "Pudd'nhead Wilson" America might well be proud of its authors and the stage. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" will be seen at Myers Grand next Saturday evening.

AERONAUT SAVED BY A TREE.

Gas Escaped from the Balloon and He Came Near Falling to Death.

C. C. Bonnette, an aeronaut, had a narrow escape from death in New York the other afternoon while making a balloon ascension in Ridgewood Park, on the outskirts of Williamsburg, in the presence of nearly 20,000 persons. It was the first day's celebration of the five days' festival of the Plattdeutscher Volksfestverein. Bonnette had been engaged to make a balloon ascension, and while in midair give a trapeze performance and then descend in a parachute. While the men were filling the balloon with gas they failed to notice a slight leak near the top. When everything was ready, Bonnette took his seat on the trapeze and the balloon slowly moved upward. When he reached a height of about 100 feet it was noticed by the crowd that instead of giving a trapeze performance he was holding tightly to the ropes. Finally the balloon began coming down slowly. Bonnette was struggling to free the parachute, but the ropes refused to work. He cut the ropes while the balloon was floating about one-quarter of a mile outside of the park, and, holding the parachute, let himself drop. Bonnette was then about 65 feet in the air. He landed in a tree, and this saved his life. A moment later the balloon came down with a crash within a few yards from where the aeronaut had landed. Bonnette was taken from the tree and found to have received only a few bruises.

Does Coffee Agree With You?

If not drink Grano-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grano-O nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It is a drink that feeds the system. Somewhat the brilliancy of the cut glass and bric-a-brac is dimmed after the washing. It's the fault of the soap, most of which contains rosin and alkali. Ivory Soap contains neither; makes foamy suds. Rinse thoroughly with clean water and the glass will sparkle with a new brilliancy.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the ivory"; they are not, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

WHEN PA GOT 'NISHYATED.

Of all the ortal things I've seen, the worstest was the sight.

When my pa joined the Mason lodge on 'nishyation night.

I never 'fished in all my life; sense 'latin wuz begun.

Ex while I sat there in that room a-watchin' of the fun.

For pa, he'd swore up hill an down he wuzn't afraid a bit.

But 'fore they finished up the job he'durn wear had a fit.

'Twuz just the hottest hot oil time that ever wuz created.

That night the Masons got my pa ter come git 'nishyated.

It keeps me doubled in a fit.

Of latin, an I won't fugit.

The night my pa made sick a hit.

When he got 'nishyated.

When pa went in the lodgeroom, they ordered him to rise,

An they tied his hands with rope an bandaged both his eyes.

An though pa made a ortal kick, they tol' him that if he Intended, then and there, ter take a Mason's first degree.

He'd got ter quit his kickin'; then they walked him on the floor.

An whirled him round an round, by 'links, a million times or more!

An then they pulled an hauled till pa wuz mighty aggravated.

An axed if all new members wuz in this way 'nishyated.

I just sat there an fairly yelled,

An tuckin' how my pa rebelled;

You'd think they had a mule corralled.

When pa got 'nishyated.

They tore pa's shirt clean off his back an splid his Sunday coat,

An, Holy Moses, when they sed he'd got ter ride the goat.

He staggered back agin the wall an then began ter pray,

An when they let ole Billy in pa fainted dead away!

They rolled pa up an down the room, an then when he come to.

You'd think ter see him roll his eyes that pa's had a screw;

He whistled that the job wuz more than he anticipated,

An 'please to bury what wuz left,' when he got 'nishyated.

I just rolled over on the floor

An tuckt until my ribs wuz sore;

While pa, he profied round an awoke,

When he got 'nishyated.

An when the job at last was done, if my pa wuzn't a sight!

I bet he won't fugit right off that 'nishyation-night.

His eyes wuz black an blue an blood wuz runnin from his nose.

They wuzn't enough ter carpet rags left of his Sunday clothes;

An when ma met us at the door she give a ortal shriek.

An stood a-sizin of pa up, too paralyzed to speak,

But when she axed pa if he'd bin waylaid an 'sasinated,

He only groaned an said, "Oh, no, I've just bin 'nishyated!"

Pa looked just like some ortal freak.

An had ter stay in bed a week.

Too stiff an sore to move or speak,

When he got 'nishyated.

NEWSPAPERS PAY BEST.

The "Fourth Estate" says:

When the railroad advertising agents met in Chicago the other day and deliberately declared as the result of their experience that the newspaper was the best medium of advertising, they simply voiced the opinion of thousands of business men all over the world.

And yet not a day passes that some new form of publicity is not brought to the attention of the public. Some of these have merit and accomplish their purpose, but they are few in number and of only temporary worth. Nine-tenths of these advertising schemes are absolutely worthless, and the only persons who get a dollar out of them are the originators who are smart enough to catch the consumers.

The reason why the newspapers are the best mediums for reaching the people and securing business, is that they come into closer touch with the public than any other kind of publications.

When a man takes up his favorite paper to find out what is going on in the great busy world about him he cannot avoid seeing the advertisements in it. Whether he needs any of the articles advertised or not he is impressed by the announcements and remembers them.

The editor of the Chicago paper who wants to know why it was necessary to give President McKinley a body guard of police on the occasion of his visit to Chicago, evidently doesn't read his own paper. Otherwise he would know that the president was a stranger; that he has the reputation of carrying money in sums exceeding fifteen cents; that his head is not sandbag proof; and that he was unarmed. Under the circumstances, therefore, it would appear that the president was lucky in making his escape, even if the sturdy policemen did watch over him.

In resigning from the Gold Democratic National Committee, Ellis B. Usher, says: "Bryan stands for nothing in which I believe. I am not going to become a political enigma because the party has left me. I am going to act with the party that now represents at least a part of my principles, and with which I am nearest at agreement—the republican party.

The fact that a Hawaiian native who went to visit his wife's tribe in the New Hebrides was captured, roasted and eaten will doubtless cause the revival of the mother-in-law joke that was so popular a short time ago; as well as the repetition of the saying "there is always a woman at the bottom of it."

"Strike! England, and strike home!" says Post Swineburne. Col. Swineburne should be careful how he advises violence. Many people are likely to read his poem, and after reading it, almost any one of them is liable to do something rash.

The worm has at last turned. A wife who is being sued for divorce in Cleveland, O., has been ordered by the Common Pleas Court to pay $4 a week alimony to her husband, pending the decision of the case, and $20 attorney's fees.

"Long" Jones would be an imposing candidate for governor, and some "tall hustling" would be done for him. The persimmon tree that Long Jones could not lay bare without a pole would have to be 7962 feet high—more or less.

Bryan should be an expansionist. If we had a few colonies we might try free silver on one of them. Otherwise the good colonel will never see his theory in practice.

Editor Usher, however, will not be ruffled by the remarks made by the democratic press. Mr. Usher used to be a life insurance agent.

Oom Paul may lack polish, but owing to this fact he has the satisfaction of knowing that no one can "see his finish."

Bryan no longer tells us that the price of wheat is controlled by the price of silver. What's the matter, Willie?

And, as the year goes out, another war is begun.

Oom Paul is also keeping his powder dry.

BOERS CROSS NATAL BORDER

British Territory Invaded by the Transvaal Forces.

is charged with arrogance and brutality.

The news that many men of diverse nationalities have gone to the borders to fight for the Transvaal is confirmed, and it is said that some Englishmen have joined, after taking the oath of allegiance to the South African republic. Sir Alfred Milner has issued a proclamation to the effect that to abet the enemy is high treason.

There are also reports of surreptitious arming in the Dutch districts of Cape Colony.

The "Times" Sandspur correspondent says: "The strength of the Boers at this point is about 8,000, scattered in various camps over wide areas. Joubert's headquarters and artillery camp is half a mile from Sandspur and ten miles from the border."

"In addition to the Boer commands, the Hollander corps and the Irish corps here are each about 250 strong, and there are also two German corps—one under Col. Schiel at Klipriver, near the Free State border. The arrangement of the camps and commissariat is rough and ready, and there is little drill and discipline as it is understood in European armies. The general result, however, is quite satisfactory. There is an abundance of food and equipment, the only defect being the want of good water."

The latest estimates of the Boer strength put the total at 21,000 men, distributed as follows: On the western frontier, 2,000; against Kimberley, 3,000; on Drakenberg, 2,000; at Volksrust, and Utrecht, 12,000; on Portuguese frontiers, 2,000. The Orange Free State has 10,000 men in field, but they are largely neutralized, owing to their lengthy frontier line and the necessity of guarding against invasion by the Basutos, the most formidable fighting natives in South Africa, next to the Zulus, and the only Kaffir tribe who go into battle mounted.

A telegram from Pretoria, timed 7:30 yesterday evening, says:

"The situation is becoming hourly more critical. Numerous Americans, Germans, Frenchmen, Swedes, Belgians, Norwegians, Danes, Italians, Dutchmen, Swiss and Cape Afrikanders have gone to the border to fight for the Transvaal, although they are not burghers, while many British residents also have taken the oath of allegiance. The hope is expressed by many that war will yet be averted."

Nothing since this has been received from Pretoria, and doubtless telegraphic communication with the Transvaal is now cut.

Pretoria, Oct. 12.—The German detachment has posted a big gun on the Free State-Natal border, in a position to aid Wakkerstroom. Five hundred burghers assisted in hauling the gun up a steep and almost inaccessible acclivity.

Some of the laagers are flying the Irish flag with the flags of the Transvaal and Orange Free State.

The ambulance corps has arrived.

Anxiety at Mafeking.

London, Oct. 13.—Much anxiety is felt at the war office concerning the British position at Mafeking, the frontier station on the Bechuanaland border. Col. Baden Powell's forces are menaced by 4,000 Boers under Commandant Cronje, who defeated Jameson at Krugersdorp, and who is regarded as the ablest general in the Boer service. The war office anticipates that Cronje will shell Mafeking, as he has a strong force of artillery, officered by Germans, with his commando. No succor can be afforded Mafeking for five days, as Kimberley cannot spare any of his 2,500 men, who are needed to defend the De Beers diamond mines.

News of the shelling and descent on Mafeking is hourly expected.

No apprehension is entertained of the ability of the British forces in Natal to offer successful defense, though the Boers are expected to occupy Newcastle, which is undefended, in order to secure control of the railway to that point, but Ladysmith, Glencoe, and Dundee are considered perfectly safe from any attack the Boers can launch against them. There are 3,000 troops at Ladysmith and in ten days Sir George White will have 15,500 men, including three regiments of first-class cavalry, with five batteries of artillery.

Rumored Assassination.

London, Oct. 12.—It is reported that Conyngham Greene, the British diplomatic agent at Pretoria, has been assassinated there. The report, however, is unconfirmed and is discredited at the colonial office.

War Spirit in Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 12.—War stores, uniforms, arms and outfits have been ordered in sufficient quantities to allow the dispatch from Canada within fourteen days for South Africa of a body of at least 1,500 men of all arms.

ELECTRIC LINE MEN WERE HERE TODAYMAY CONSTRUCT ROAD FROM THIS CITY.

Arthur M. Einstein, Who Represents Capital, Looks Over the Ground Proposed Road Would Operate Between Janesville and Lake Geneva Would Benefit Bower City.

Arthur M. Einstein, representing Chicago capitalists, was in Janesville today, looking over the ground with the idea of constructing an electric road from this city to Lake Geneva via Beloit.

The power house would be in Beloit and if the line becomes a paying institution it will be extended to Madison eventually.

The river route from Beloit to Janesville presents less obstacles than by way of Atton, but the hardest proposition is the big hill south of Janesville, which is in the way which ever direction is taken. If that difficulty can be overcome with out too much expense, a franchise may be sought.

Mr. Einstein said Rockford was not being considered at this time, but of course might come sometime in the course of five years or so. He thought it would not be many years before all cities of any importance size would be connected by inter-urban lines. Part of the capitalists he represents are interested in the line from Elgin, Aurora and Wheaton to Chicago.

This was unanimously adopted.

Janesville Man Is Now Past Grand Commander of Knights Templar.

At Milwaukee yesterday at the forty-fifth annual convocation of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Wisconsin, Dr. L. A. Bishop of Fond du Lac, was installed as grand commander to fill the office held by Theodore W. Goldin of this city.

By virtue of his past office Mr. Goldin becomes past grand commander.

Yesterday morning a charter was granted to a commandery at Appleton which will be known as Appleton commandery No. 29. There is now one vacancy in the state, but in the twenty-eight commanderies there is a total membership of about 3,100. The reports of the committee showed that the order is prospering throughout the state.

THE TWILIGHT CLUB TO DISCUSS TRUSTS

HOLD FIRST MEETING OF WINTER SERIES NEXT WEEK

Important Question Will Be Discussed at the Hotel Myers Tuesday Evening, Oct. 17—Now Has a Membership of One Hundred and Fifty.

The Postprandial.

At the Hotel Myers at 6:45 o'clock, on the evening of Tuesday, October 17, members of the Twilight club will assemble and hold their first of a coming series of meetings for the winter of 1899-1900.

This is the club's fourth annual session and present indications are that the coming winter's work will prove most profitable and enjoyable. One hundred and fifty members form the club's membership list. Since the last meeting, the ranks have been invaded by death and sickness. The death of the late John R. Bennett removed one of the brainiest and foremost members. Owing to sickness familiar faces will be found missing when the session is called to order next Tuesday evening.

Landlord Johnson has planned a menu fit for king and will keep up his well earned reputation as a banquet caterer.

The subject under discussion next Tuesday evening will be "Trusts," and Samuel M. Smith will act as leader. Following is the postprandial:

"History of their development."

"Impressions of the Chicago conference."

"Legal status of the trust."

"Are trusts beneficial?"

"Trusts and the independent manufacturer."

"Ethics of the trust."

"Remedies—political or economic."

Two Holes Softened

Sheriff Appleby and Chief Hogan arrested two tramps last evening in the railroad yards and escorted them to jail. This morning in court they gave the names of Thomas Riley and James Williams. To the charge of vagrancy they pleaded guilty and were sentenced for five days each. When searched, the police found in their possession several knives, razors, and shaving brushes.

EXERCISES opened at 8 o'clock and it was well toward midnight before the festivities came to a close. The coming winter promises to be a flourishing one for the club, several social functions having already been planned. It is also the intention to give a grand ball at the armory.

Ladies' Garments.

We know of no such stock of outer garments for women elsewhere in this locality. As a matter of fact, we consider our leadership in this line well earned. Elegantly tailored garments of good material and perfect fit are here to be sold at popular prices. Better inspect the line before buying.

We show good coats at $5, $7.50, $10 and up. We are even this early having a lively business in the cloak department.

To Kill Treelice.

A far more damaging pest than the caterpillar to beautiful trees is the scale or tree louse. On the tree it looks as innocent as a bark blister, but in sufficient numbers it will kill the tree outright, as it lives on the sap. At the first glance one would hardly notice the tree louse, as it is exactly the color of the bark, and it is imbedded in the bark until it is a part of it. A whole chain of them, one after another, will fit into a crevice and in a short time will clear it out to the wood as well as ever a knife could do it. To destroy them they have to be scraped from the tree, and then the tree must be given a bath of diluted wood alcohol.

SOME NEW RECEPTION GOWNS.

One of the prettiest, as well as most elegant, dresses I have seen intended for this season for evening wear was shown me the other day.

The gown was of rich cream white silk, with jet sewed on it in a way to make one think that handfuls of fine beads had been thrown at it from a distance, and stuck there. The center of each figure was in a dark mass, with straggling lines in every direction. The lower ones had the appearance of having dropped down. The design of those was never the same in two cases, and they are more than the size of a hand. These are sewed all over the skirt and upon the draped low bodice. There is one large, one directly in front at the bust line and one at the point of the waist; and these have all the drooping lines made loose in a handsome jet fringe.

There is a jet fringe, four inches wide at the bottom, sewed on in scallops. There is a train, wide and long, and the effect of all this fine cut jet sewed to the thick silk is indescribably rich. Under the edge of the skirt was a balaustre of black lace.

Nearly everybody is now thinking rather more of reception, evening and ball gowns than of those for street wear, though they claim a fair share of attention, as do furs and hats and the many trifles classed under the head of accessories.

I find that lace is one of the first factors in the making of handsome evening gowns, and also for the special adornment of tea gowns. The number of these last mentioned gowns would predict the consumption of enormous quantities of tea. Never have I seen so many tea gowns together, nor so rich and handsome.

In one house there were hundreds of them, all imported and bearing the name of famous Paris dressmakers. They vary in price from $15 to $250. Nearly all of them have an empire effect more or less pronounced. This means that the skirt falls from just below the bust line in one long, graceful sweep. The upper portion of these is generally most elaborate and most often of elegant lace over some bright color. Velvet, ribbon and lace of every kind, as well as fine hand embroidery, in one or in many colors are used to decorate them.

One coral pink silk brocade had a row of Alaska sable fur all around the skirt, and up the front. Between the two lines of fur in front there was a full shirred panel of white china crêpe. A sash of the same reached from under the arms and tied in a loose knot and hung nearly to the floor at the left side, with a heavy knotted fringe to match.

Some tea gowns have high collars. Others have the front open V shape. It is difficult to say which is the handsomest. I think it would depend more on the wearer.

There is one pretty style of finishing off a tea gown around the neck that never seems to grow stale, and that is the swan's down band. It is soft and delicate and sets off a young face beautifully, while it softens and tones down an older one. There are a few with high ruffs made very full of silk muslin edged with narrow butter-colored lace. This shows well against the white, pink or pale blue of the ruff, and they may be of any one of these or of black with spangled edges. These, however, do not seem to be quite so well liked as the more elegant swan's down or all lace trimming.

Ribbons are among the favorite articles of ornamentation; and bows and long, floating ends will be seen everywhere, particularly on tea gowns and other home and indoor gowns of ceremony. The preferred ribbon for such use is double satin face with heavy cord at the edge.

Aside from tea gowns, there are many other loose and comfortable house dresses worthy of special mention. There are kimono, where enough of Japanese effect is retained to give a gown its character and not enough to hamper the movement. These are pretty. There are others made of plain or printed cashmere or some one of the soft wools.

I should have said in connection with the import gowns that they are of brocaded or emroidered silk, satin or velvet and with all their trimming of the most expensive kind. The house gowns copy them closely, in style and general design, but are made in this country and of cheaper goods, but the gowns themselves are little less pretty. The empire and French waist effects, the yoke and the princess shape are all used as models for

MAINE'S BIRCH TREES.

Constables Responsible for Their Origin In That State.

Norway (Maine) Correspondence of the New-York Times: Since the paper-makers commenced to build big sulphite mills in the Maine woods the price of spruce timber lands has doubled, and in some cases trebled. Next to spruce, the timber in greatest demand is clean and thrifty white birch, which is sawed into bars and sent by the shipload to Scotland to be used for thread spools. Nearly all the factories in the United States, and more than half of those in Great Britain, obtain their spool stock from Maine. According to A. A. Burleigh of Houlton, Maine, who has spent the best part of his life in the woods as a lumber operator, Maine's birch trees are due to the spiteful conduct of two employees of the Maine land office. Some French Canadians in 1820 squatted on state land near the Penobscot river and defied all efforts to eject them. Finally, in 1825, two special constables were sent to the place from the land office in Augusta, with instructions to make a clean job of evicting the Frenchmen. The constables, after turning the families out, set fire to the houses and haystacks. Twelve hours later the French village was a smoking mass of ashes, and the biggest forest fire ever known in the state was sweeping north, burning off more than fifty townships of old-growth pine and doing more than $10,000,000 damage to the state lands. Many square miles of hackmatack timber were also burned over, the fire eating ten feet into the black peat logs that had been accumulating for years and years. It is a tradition that, after crossing Aroostook county, the fire leaped the St. John river and swept over New Brunswick, terminating in the destruction of Miramichi, where 120 persons perished. The survivors were forced to flee into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, where they stood neck deep in the water for two days and a night, while deer, caribou, moose, bears and wolves swam around them, seeming to seek protection from their enemies. After the fire had burned itself out and the land had absorbed the alkali of the ashes, about 5,000,000 acres came up to wild cherry and white birch saplings. For more than ten years the two species struggled for control of the territory. Then the black knot, which had been imported from Europe, killed off the wild cherry trees, giving the birches the right of way. About 50,000,000 board feet of spool bars are now shipped out of Maine every year and the supply is still large.

For inexpensive house gowns, especially for morning, we have chinchilla cloth. This comes in red, pink, blue and yellow; also gray and light brown. This is prettily trimmed with velvet collars, cuffs, pockets and yokes, while ribbon bows and lace over the yokes or other parts are often put for added effect. There are dainty Scotch mantles, which make the neatest and nicest of morning gowns for young women, and old ones, too, and blouselette is offered in such a variety of designs and color that many persons buy it. It is cheap and very pretty until it is laundered. That takes away all its beauty.

Elder down flannel is the coziest, softest and by all odds the warmest and best of all the materials for early morning wear. This is produced in so many weights, degrees of fineness and colors that I despair of telling of them. They are usually made with half fitting back and loose front, with thick silk cord and tassels to match or ribbon half belts. Velvet collars and other accessories generally are added to these, but if one wants to be particularly comfortable in one of these let her have a swan's down or fur bon sewed around the neck. Bernhardt knows what she is doing when she buries her face in a fluffy mass.

There is a small movement on foot to make black silk undergarments fashionable, and we find a few black-china silk chemises, drawers and nightgowns. Petticoats we have had a long time. But, aside from the contingent of worshippers of new idols, these black undergarments find few adherents. White is so much cleaner looking.

I know one pretty lady who took such a great fancy for black silk underwear that she even had black silk sheets, but she soon grew tired of it all. This was six or seven years ago. Perhaps the fashion for black underclothes will succeed this time.

Among the handsome new dresses for dinner, reception and visiting are three really very fine ones.

One is of ashes of roses peau de gant silk. The skirt and waist are both plain, but overlaid with cream colored renaissance lace in form of a lounge at the bottom of the skirt and a vest in front. There is a narrow belt of dark gray velvet. The collar is of velvet overlaid with lace and has a full ruffle at the upper edge. The sleeves are straight and tight and end at the bottom with châtelaine cuffs or velvet covered with lace. This gown is peculiarly refined and elegant.

Another and rather more striking gown was of automobile red, corded taffeta. The upper part of the waist was overlaid with a slender design in white lace applique. Around the bottom of the skirt were six narrow ruffles of black silk muslin edged with black satin ribbon. There was an overdress in pinfore shape of black silk muslin wrought with black, green and iridescent spangles in Persian design. The sleeves were covered with it also. The whole gown at a short distance had a sort of coppery color. It was very handsome and not so glaring as one might think, the black toning it down. The belt was black and the ruffles to the sleeves.

All lace dresses are to be much in evidence. One design had a canary colored undershirt of silk and a fringed sash and collar of the same. The whole outer dress was of white net with applique of heavier lace upon it in irregular design. Across the front breadth was a narrow lace flounce and another to side—like a tunic.

The waist had a yoke of heavily applied lace. The vest was gathered and had a lighter design. The sleeves were gathered. The sash consisted of one width of soft taffeta with a deep knotted fringe. Fringe of all kinds is "in."

Fringe is used to trim almost everything, but its most particular mission seems to be to garnish skirts. It looks almost ridiculous to see a handsome dress with one or two rows of "miny" little Tom Thumb fringe sewed around the bottom. Some of the gowns have a complete overdress of the knotted heading, often in different styles of knotting.

Ships Tell Where They Are.

A novel method of detecting the sound of a steamship's propellers has been invented by an Italian. He has made an apparatus which is a variation of the telephone. Several transmitters are submerged and arranged on land, or to point in different directions, all being connected with a receiver on board another ship. The direction in which the sound is loudest indicates the point of the compass in which the distant ship is to be looked for. Experiments have shown that a ship's propellers betray its whereabouts at a distance of six miles.

LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH..

THE PRESIDENT IN INDIANA.

Makes Short Speech to Veterans of the Blue and Gray.

MANY OTHER TOWNS VISITED.

Necessity of Maintaining Schedule Time on the Trip Prevents Much Spectacular—The Northwest Visit Begins
This Morning.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 12.—President McKinley and his party spent three hours Wednesday forenoon the guests of honor at the reunion of the Blue and Gray, veterans of the civil war. Torrents of rain fell continually during the demonstration, but the president carried out his share of the program in spite of the weather. The train arrived at 8:55 in the morning. At 9 o'clock the president, Secretary Long, Secretary Hitchcock, Secretary Gage, Secretary Wilson and Attorney-General Griggs, accompanied by Gov. Mount of Indiana, Mayor Akin of Evansville, and the reception committee, were in carriages on the way to the Vanderburgh county fair grounds, where the demonstration culminated. The Indiana Fifth regiment band and the Cleveland Grays headed the procession, which was marred by the rain and the mile of muddy roads beyond town. The route of the parade was ornate with bunting and arches, and crowds from adjoining counties of Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky fringed the line of march. From the fair grounds gates to the grand stand state troops from Missouri, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky stood on either side of the drive at "present" while the president's carriage passed, battery A of Indianapolis firing the presidential salute of twenty-one guns.

About 400 veterans in blue and gray uniforms formed the guard about the stand, and President McKinley, an attendant holding an umbrella over him, walked bare-headed and bowing between their ranks. The ground over which he and the cabinet members passed was three inches deep in mud, slippery and wet, but the company was in gay spirits and joked about the weather.

Arrived at the stand, President McKinley made a brief speech to the assembled veterans. He was followed by Attorney-General Griggs and Secretary Gage.

Besides the president and cabinet members, Gov. Mount of Indiana, Senator Beveridge, Senator Fairbanks, Congressman Hemenway, Josiah Patterson of Memphis, Tenn., and Mayor Akin of Evansville made short speeches.

At noon the president and his party regained the train. A great crowd besieged it, cheering until he said a few farewell words from the rear platform.

Thomas Adams and B. F. Willoughby of Vincennes accompanied the president's train from Evansville in the hope of inducing the president to loiter fifteen minutes there. But the train lost ten minutes at Princeton and Sullivan, where school children and citizens on parade were saluted by the president, who stood on the rear platform and bowed to them.

Vincennes is said to be the "hottest" expansion town in Indiana. The presidential train stopped only ten minutes there, the president making a short speech from the rear platform. Here, as at all towns along the route, the population was at the station to cheer the chief executive.

At Terre Haute President McKinley and Secretary Long each made a brief speech. Attorney-General Griggs also spoke, referring to the president as the "advance agent of prosperity." Secretary Wilson, Secretary Gage and Secretary Hitchcock talked briefly about farming prosperity, money and trade expansion, and fully 10,000 persons of Terre Haute cheered them all.

It was dark when the president appeared at Danville, Ill. He spoke a few words to the crowd about the train, Hoosier was not down on the schedule for a stop, but the crowd, red fire and cannon salutes induced the president to have the train stopped. He and his cabinet officers greeted the shouting crowd from the car platform.

Mayor Morris and Judge C. W. Raymond of Watseka, Ill., boarded the train at Terre Haute and prevailed upon the president to give their fellow-citizens a chance to honor him. Canons, music and fireworks signaled the approach of the president, and one of the biggest crowds of the day was ready with flags and cheers to greet him. Mayor Morris introduced the president and each of the cabinet members to the Watsekanians, and they cheered the president's short speech.

Northwestern Trip Begun.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—The presidential train came into the union station over the Chicago & Eastern Illinois road last night and departed over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. It arrives in Winona, Minn., at 6:30 o'clock this morning. St. Paul at 9 a. m. and Minneapolis a half-hour later, where President McKinley will meet the First Minnesota volunteers. It will reach Duluth Friday morning and continue to Fargo, N. D., reaching Aberdeen, S. D., where the president will address the First South Dakota regiment, just returned from Manila; Saturday morning. Sioux Falls will be reached at 10:25 o'clock. Yankton two hours later.

and Sioux City, Iowa, Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock, where the president will spend Sunday. Monday the train will pass through Dubuque, Iowa, and Galena, Ill., and at 5:30 o'clock p. m. will be in Milwaukee. The party will pass through Chicago on its way to Kalamazoo, Mich., where the train is expected to arrive on Tuesday at noon.

ARE UNITED FOR WATERWAY.

Harmony in Peoria Meeting—Important Committee Appointed.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 12.—Chicago and St. Louis have united with the people of the Illinois river valley for the purpose of urging congress to improve the Des Plaines and Illinois rivers so as to secure a deep waterway from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi river. After unanimously adopting a deep-waterway memorial to congress, the deep-waterway convention adjourned, leaving the work of forwarding the enterprise in the hands of an executive committee, of which Col. Isaac Taylor is chairman. This committee will meet in Springfield in two or three weeks to organize a campaign. Subcommittees will be appointed, the most important of which will be the federal relations committee, whose members will carry the deep-waterway memorial to Washington.

The committee will issue a call for a deep-waterway convention to be held in Chicago next year, the delegates to which will come from every state in the union interested in the subject of a waterway from the lakes to the gulf.

Bad Weather for Yachts.

New York, Oct. 12.—Judging from the weather early this morning, and the forecast, another will be added to the series of Columbia-Shamrock flukes. NEW YORK STATE FOR BRYAN.
Silver Leader Will Get a Solid Delegation from There.

New York, Oct. 12.—Richard Croker and former United States Senator Edward Murphy defeated David B. Hill for the control of the state democracy and pledged a solid delegation to W. J. Bryan in 1900. The formal resolution pledging the support of New York to W. J. Bryan was carried amid a whirlwind of enthusiasm by a vote of 46 to 3, David B. Hill refusing to vote. Croker, Murphy and every committeeman in New York and Brooklyn voted aye. Here is the resolution:

"The democratic state committee of New York recognizes that William Jennings Bryan is the natural approved leader of the democratic party in the nation. The democratic state committee hereby expresses its solicitude for his health and strength, and while he is temporarily stricken in the people's battlefield, they beg to assure him of their loyalty and love."

BANKROBBERS SECURE $9,000.

Wreck Safe and Building with Dynamite at Reynolds, Ind.

Reynolds, Ind., Oct. 12.—The bank here was robbed of $9,000 and wrecked by an explosion at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Citizens reached the building in time to see four men run to two buggies and dash away with the horses in full gallop. A posse was organized by 4 o'clock and the pursuit of the robbers begun. The trail was lost east of Monticello and the members of the pursuing party separated into squads and are scouring the country.

May Form a New Party in Cuba.

Havana, Oct. 12.—Guadalupe Gomez said Wednesday that the Cuban National League and the Cuban national party were doomed. The result of the elections of committee delegates, he declared, was a complete triumph for the national party at the expense of the league, as all those elected to the committee are members of the former organization.

The veterans, Gomez said, ought to be the mainstay of the country, and before the completion of the census would form a party that would carry all before it, and probably have Maximo Gomez as its leader.

Porter was elected for life, an unusual proceeding. Fredericksburg, Pa., was selected as the next place of meeting for the general society.

the firing line. "I have 6,000 men to say of the Philippines," he said. "The people must stop to consider when they are passing judgment that there are countless conditions to be constantly combated and overcome there before headway can be made. I fear that the exact difficulties of the situation are not thoroughly understood. Some mistakes may have been made, but the campaign has been conducted in a most able and conscientious manner, and every man has done his best. No grave errors have occurred, but it is always easy to look back and comment upon what has been done, even though that might have been accomplished under trying circumstances."

Asked about Admiral Dewey, he said: "Of Admiral Dewey I have but one opinion to express. Without a shadow of doubt he is the greatest man in America today. I consider him the nation's hero, and nothing is too good for Dewey. Make him president, make him anything, but remember this nation can never overpay Admiral Dewey for his services."

Gets more consideration than a shabby individual. The shabby man may really have more ability than the other, but the casual observer won't believe it. It's a matter of business to be well dressed. It may be wrong, but people often judge a man by his clothes. They are sure to have a good opinion of him if he buys his clothes here.

ABOUT OVERCOATS.

FOR the first time in some years the popularity of smooth faced overcoats is disputed by garments made from rough faced fabric. We should not say 'rough' fabrics either, because the coats we have in mind are made from thick soft cloths with what appears to be a rough exterior, but when you touch them with your hand they are soft as the fur of a kitten.

The shape is most graceful; fits well about the neck, square about the shoulders from which it hangs full.

We produce overcoats in these fabrics so excellent that it is a wilful waste of cash to pay your tailor twice the money to make you one no better.
